

5/18/16

Tuesday, May 17, 2016 1:10 PM

Label whether each sentence is a fragment, run-on, comma splice, or correct. If it is not correct, fix it.

1. Finally, after months of painful physical therapy, Jack could function normally and he was ready to find Jill.
2. He still wanted someone to tell him how he fell off the cliff and got hurt.
3. After remembering that Jill used to have a cabin deep in the woods. He figured that he would start there.
4. Jack began his journey to find Jill, after arriving at her cabin, he excitedly knocked on the door.