

Good morning! Please come in and on a piece of paper, write down the Daily Language Practice (DLP) sentence. Write it as it is and then go in and make any corrections needed in order for it to be grammatically correct. This can range anywhere from simple capitalization and punctuation to more complex sentence construction errors. You will do these most mornings from now on. I recommend putting the date above each sentence and leaving a space in between lines around the sentence to easily make corrections. Then tomorrow, you can come in and underneath today's, write the date and do the same thing.

At 9 feet tall and 1,700 pounds the alaskan brown bear is the largest carnivore, that lives on land.
